PACIFIC SLOPE JOLY PUTS PRIOR OUT.

He Lost His Confidence in the Premier.

Result of Investigation into a Bridge Contract.

Charges Against San Francisco
Officials—Hermans Elected to Congress.

VICTORIA (B. C.) June 1.—Col. Prior was dismissed by Lieut. Gov. Sir Henry Joly today, and later Richard McBride, member for Delta, and leader of the opposition, was called upon to form a ministry.

The dismissal of the Premier was due to his connection with the contract for the supply of cable for Chimney Creek bridge, which was supplied by his firm. The opposition alleged wrongdoing in the manner in which the contract was secured. An investigation was held, at which Col. Prior said he saw the tenders, and asked why his firm had not been given a chance to tender. They afterward tendered, and secured the contract, but Col. Prior said the firm had not received any aid or evidence was adduced otherwise. The evidence was placed in the Governor's hands on Saturday, and he wrote to Col. Prior, dismissing him and his government. The Governor's letter says the late Premier's conception of the independence of Parliament is such that he no longer can give him his confidence.

In an interview given shortly after his dismissal, the late Premier said: "While his honor was satisfied that I had not done anything intentionally wrong in connection with the Chimney Creek contract, he considered that I had gone outside the independence of Parliament."

He said further that he was willing to admit that his course in regard to the contract in question had perhaps been impolitic.

Richard McBride was called upon to form a government this afternoon, and the Legislature adjourned until tomorrow when he will announce his government.

In the meantime Mr. McBride cannot take his seat in the House until he has been sworn in, and goes back to his constituents for reelection. It is rumored that McBride's Cabinet will consist of: L. V. Patterson, member for North Victoria; McPhillips, member for Victoria; R. F. Green, member for Keesee; John Oliver, member for Delta, and Capt. Tattow, member for Vancouver.

This cabinet composed of two Liberals and three Conservatives, a fact which is exciting much comment, as McBride stated in the House a few days ago that he was in favor of an immediate election on party lines. Efforts are being made to patch up a government with the opposition leaders, but will have sufficient following to carry on a session, but it is not thought that the government thus formed will be a very strong one.

FINDS SHORTAGE.

EXPERT ACCOUNTANT.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—A report was filed today with the clerk of the Board of Supervisors by J. J. Haswell, who is employed to expert the accounts of the various city and county officers. Haswell's latest report deals with the office of the County Clerk, and it discloses an apparent shortage of $100.70. Much of this amount is in fees to be collected, particularly from years past from public administrators. Haswell finds a great deal to criticize in the Administrator's office, and comments as follows: "We are satisfied that errors, overcharges and irregularities will be discovered and the fact will be demonstrated that the Public Administrator has 'buted in' for the purpose of delaying the settlement of an estate unless receiving compensation to withdraw, and that he has been so remunerated. In one instance we are informed that the compensation amounted to about $7500."

Taking into the items charged to the Public Administrator, concerning which there is some legal question, the actual shortage discovered is not large.

NOVEL "CON" GAME.

BROKEN LEG HELPED OUT.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Two men charged with perjury because of alleged false testimony given in a suit against the city of Astoria, Ore., to recover $1500 as damages for an injury to one of them, for which it is claimed the city was in no way responsible, are in the Alameda County Jail waiting to be taken north by an officer from Astoria.

It is claimed one of the prisoners has used a fracture of his leg as a means of obtaining money by bringing suits against cities or people, though they had no connection with the injury, or threatening to bring such suits if a promise was not made.

John Bock, also known as Charles R. Lane, and Joseph R. Smith, also known as George Rodgers, stock farmers near Livermore, are the men arrested. The Sheriff of Clatsop County is expected to call for them soon.

It is alleged that Bock also defrauded the city of Seattle out of $2000 by means of his broken leg.

A. M. Smith, City Attorney of Astoria, has sworn to complaints charging Bock and Joseph Smith with perjury.

ORIENTALS INTERESTED.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—John Barrett, commissioner general of the Orient and Australia, in his position he has been enlisting the participation of the Oriental nations in the Barrett left for the Orient thirteen months ago, and since has traveled approximately 45,000 miles on business connected with the exposition. He has no less than fifteen countries for his number including Japan, China, Korea, Eastern Siberia, Siam, French Indo-China, India and the Asiatic Republics of China, Holland and Great Britain.

In round numbers, he says Asia will expend $2,000,000 in display, Japan about $600,000, China $300,000, Siam over $100,000, and the Philippines $500,000. At the head of the Imperial Chinese delegation to St. Louis will be Prince Palun, nephew of the Emperor, once mentioned as probable successor to the throne.

This will be the first time in history that a prince of the royal blood has been deputed to represent China in any foreign exposition.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

FOUNDER RESIGNS HER POWER.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Leland Stanford University today, Mrs. Stanford resigned and surrendered all the powers and duties vesting in her, by the terms of the grant founding the university. Under the terms of the grant, Mrs. Stanford has had the right to complete control over the University and its properties. The board of trustees formally assumed all of the powers and duties which would have devolved upon them upon Mrs. Stanford's death. The board determined to bring a special proceeding under the act recently passed by the Legislature to determine the legal construction and validity of the various grants made by the founders of the university.

At the request of the members of the board, Mrs. Stanford will become a trustee upon the conclusion of the proceeding shortly to be instituted, and will be offered the presidency of the board. President Leib stating that he had positively refused to accept the resignation unless she would accept his position as president.

There is now a vacancy in the board. N. W. Spaulding having resigned recently to make the election of Mrs. Stanford possible.

MONEY KINGS IN CONFLICT.

Morgan Fighting Yerkes for London Traffic.

Would Build Great Underground
Electric Railway.

Common Mr. Carnegie Defines
Duties of Rich Men in Dedicating Public Library.

By Curtis D. Brown.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)
LONDON, May 20.—There are impressive indications that J. Pierpont Morgan is going to turn his attention chiefly to England for some time to come. His first venture into the game of underground rapid transit in London was checked by Yerkes last year, and Morgan is smarting under defeat, proposes to get even if it takes all summer.

Ever since his arrival in England, a month ago, he has been working with tremendous zeal on his new scheme for building an underground electric line from the Bank of England north-east toward Waltham Abbey, at a cost of some $70,000,000. The other day the bill authorizing the route was thrown out by the committee of Parliament to which it had been referred, just as Morgan's bill for a line from east to west under the city had been thrown out last autumn in favor of a rival scheme promoted by Yerkes. It looked at first as if the great financier had received another black eye from his fellow-American. The facts, which I have gathered from authoritative sources, indicate otherwise, however.

Morgan was expected to reach London on April 21, the day appointed by the committee to hear arguments in favor of the scheme, but he was unavoidably detained. Proceeding in his absence the promoters of his bill discovered so many obstacles that they decided to wait for him. As the promoters refused to go on with their proofs the committee had no alternative but to throw out the bill, and Yerkes and those associated with him claimed another victory over the Morgan group.

The bill will come before Parliament again almost immediately, however, but in another form. Instead of asking for the extended powers provided by the last bill, the new measure will confine itself solely to an underground road, and the route will be only about two-thirds the length of that originally planned. Proportionally, the new scheme will be more expensive than the old one, because one-third at least of the line under the old scheme was to have been above ground, thus saving the cost of boring. The original line, however, was to have gone on to Waltham Abbey, some sixteen miles in all, whereas the plan now is to stop at Chequers Green, six miles this side of Waltham Abbey, so that the total cost of the line is roughly estimated at $10,000,000 or $12,000,000.

In spite of all opposition, it is expected the new scheme will go through because local bodies are to a man in favor of it. It is also understood that the London County Council is not so opposed to this line as it is to Yerkes's scheme, especially as they have a chance of running a system of electric cars over ground which Morgan originally intended to cover, and connecting his line with Waltham Abbey. Morgan has paid several visits to the offices of the London County Council on this business lately, and he has had long conversations with the heads of departments responsible for the extension of electric street cars.

Morgan is also offering unprecedented inducements to local municipal bodies along his proposed route. For instance, the Borough Council of Hackney has received from him an offer to purchase some 600 feet of land on which to build a public library providing the Council will not oppose him in obtaining a site for a station in a convenient spot within its jurisdiction. It is said that Morgan is going to make a supreme effort this time to get his bill through, and nothing will facilitate it more than his scheme to conciliate the local bodies upon it simply as a means of getting a foothold, from which he can step onto larger schemes for much-needed rapid transit in London, on which his engineers and lawyers are now said to be busy.

The proposed new line runs through a section of which is now sparsely occupied, but it would occupy chiefly the local bodies, and would come out into the country for the cheaper route.

Yerkes has no rival plan for this particular route, but it is said he is way in the hope that if the bill is defeated, he will be able to get the contract of electrifying at least one of the two lines of surface railroads now on the ground.

CARNEGIE ON RICH MEN.
Andrew Carnegie's speech in opening the new public library at Pleasanton, Calif., was worthy of fuller quotation than it was generally accorded. More gave expression to his views on the duties of the man of wealth, and dealt with the question of the utility of public libraries, which has been raised by his own presentations.

The library which Carnegie opened at Pleasanton, California, is a handsome address, the American millionaire said that a rare one for him. The position is a public library, to which he had contributed a single penny. He had responded, started by Lord Rosebery, of those letters, however, named the one really valuable advantage of wealth, as he understood it, lay in what it enabled its possessor to do for his fellows.

Pleasanton, Edwards, Carnegie described as a leading and true disciple of the gospel of wealth, which held it to be the duty of the rich to scorn delights, and live laborious days in the service of their fellow-men.

HIS DEMOCRATIC WAYS.

From the way in which Andrew Carnegie has been going in for "democracy" lately one might imagine that he contemplated renouncing his American citizenship and running for Parliament on the Labor ticket. Before Carnegie accepted the invitation to open the public library in the East End, he insisted that no elaborate arrangements should be made by the local body to receive him. "I was a working man," he said, in reply to the invitation. "I am going into a working-class district, and I want to be recognized as a working man and not as a plutocrat. When he arrived at the building, the first man he inquired for was Will Crooks, the poorhouse boy, who became Mayor of an adjoining metropolitan borough to that in which the library is situated, and who is now a member of Parliament for Woolwich.

After the ceremony of opening the library, Carnegie asked to be introduced to Mrs. Crooks. Later in the day, Carnegie and Crooks were standing arm-in-arm through the lobbies of the House of Commons, and when the Woolwich M. P. in the regulation application ticket and sign the registers.

POPULAR DUCHESS.

There is no woman of title in England at the present moment that is more in demand for the opening of charity bazaar and kindred functions than the American Duchess of Marlborough. Of late she has been receiving on an average of fifty applications a day from all parts of the kingdom, and if she were to accept a third of them she would have no time to devote to anything else. Her popularity in this connection has increased in proportion to the extent of her charity, though she dispenses it without ostentation. When she cannot attend personally, a handsome donation accompanies a polite letter, which if not actually written by herself contains her autograph. "Charity," she remarked to an applicant a few days ago, "if it does not mean money means a great deal of hard work, and I am not strong enough to bear the latter."

If an ingenious expedient which has just been adopted by the Godalming Committee of the Surrey Hospital were put into a Gilbert opera, it probably would be pronounced too preposterous even for such use. The hospital authorities organized a concert for the benefit of the institution a little while ago, but were so ambitious in arranging their programme that after "benefit" was over it was discovered that money had been lost instead of made. Then it was that the committee hit upon novel means of saving the situation. They have asked the townspeople to imagine that the concert is to be held next week, and to buy tickets therefor. The Godalming public has fallen in with the idea, and seats are now selling so fast for the mythical event that it is evident that the losses on the real one will be made good, and a handsome balance left for the original purpose.

J. W. ROBINSON CO.
BOSTON DRY GOODS STORE,
239 South Broadway, Opp. City Hall, Los Angeles.

Our June Clearance sale commenced yesterday, and all day our store was filled with thoughtful buyers, taking advantage of the remarkable reductions which we offer on this occasion. We will continue this great special selling during the entire month of June, and each day will bring to your attention some of the special values which we are showing. The reductions are general throughout the entire store and each department is adding its quota to make this sale a great success. Today we tell about

Four Wash Goods Items

of superior quality which are worthy of your consideration

White Pique
The white "walking shirt" is the correct thing for morning wear, and at the seaside there is no material so much used as White Pique. We are prepared to show you one of the most exclusive lines of white wels, and it will pay you to inspect these goods. They are 37 to 39 inches wide, and range in price from 15c to $1.00 the yard.

Dotted Swisses
There is no material more distinctly appropriate for comfort in this climate than the Dotted Swiss. It is sheer, gauzy and almost transparent in lightness, with a lavish embellishment of dots, figures and stripes effects. We have them displayed in all white, and white with colored dots and figures, 31 inches wide, and from 25c to $1.00 the yard.

Special Sale of Silk Waists Wednesday
